Summary:

On 21 Mar 09, at about 0145 hours, I was off duty at home. The canine unit coordinator, Off T. Fought, called me and directed me to come into work to assist with a search for a suspect who had shot and killed two Oakland police officers. The shooting occurred at 74th Ave and MacArthur.

I responded in my personal vehicle with my patrol canine Drake. I was wearing full police uniform.

Upon arrival I met with Sgt D. Sakai. He advised me that the entry team was going to search an apartment at 2755 74th ave for the suspect. If the suspect was not located in the apartment I was going to use Drake to track the suspect from the crime scene.

The entry team then began their search of the apartment. After they entered, Sgt Sakai and Sgt Romans were shot and killed by the suspect. Entry team members located and killed the suspect in the apartment.

During a search of the apartment building a crawl space was located and needed to be searched for additional suspects. I deployed Drake into the crawl space as a locating tool. No additional suspect were located in the crawl space. I also used Drake to search the back parking lot area of the apartment and the backyard to the south of the building. No additional suspects were located.
